BOARD OF TRADE HAS BUSY TRY IN LOMOND FIRST! EVENING PLANNED FOR

Has Issued Challenge for United Action on Community Interests

Presuming you have noticed the posters calling a special meeting of the Lomond Board of Trade for Wednesday evening next, February 18th., we would like to call your attention to the program of business matters slated for that meeting.

First, the presidential vacancy is caused through the resignation of Mr. Elves. Since Mr. Elves has attained to the eminence of chief magistrate of the village it is his desire to shed all other honors, or at least to distribute the responsibilities. Fortunately there is some good material available if it can be rounded into line. It's a very necessary work, so everybody take a hand.

Second on the list comes rural telephone. It is a strange coincidence, but nevertheless a fact, that whereby we have a government by, of, and for the people, yet it is most always necessary to petition and pray—"to wheedle and coax and flatter the folks"—when we want anything done. The Alberta government is proposing to expend four million dollars this year on telephone extension, so the motive of the Board of Trade is to get Lomond on the governmental slate in time to be included in this year's estimates. Already a petition is being circulated in the territory west of town, and it is intended to canvas the entire tributary district. The recent establishment of the Lomond exchange and checking office gives one better hopes of ultimate accomplishments. We don't believe that the farmers have entirely lost faith in the country, and it is most essential that they should be given telephone accommodation. The town exchange is practically valueless without the rural connections.

The third item is irrigation! After getting het up with two or three Bolsheviks from around Travers on this matter, we doubt whether it is worth while trying to do anything about irrigation. A few respectable funerals might alter the conditions. Some people appear to think that the government is an all-wise omnipresent hand-out institution and should regulate everything but the price of wheat. Whereas we believe the government is a pretty true reflection of what we ourselves are at heart. As affairs now stand, the ultimate success and prosperity of a large portion of Southern Alberta rests entirely upon the introduction of a system of irrigation. The people in the Lethbridge Northern District are willing to undertake the obligation at a cost of fifty dollars per acre. Irrigation increases labor, thereby greatly increasing the population of the country. It would stimulate the livestock and dairy industry, which in itself is a great factor in stabilizing the conditions of prosperity. It would enhance the value of land to a far greater extent than the mere cost of the installation of the plant. It would change our towns and social centers from ten cent beaneries to up-to-date hostleries with the possibilities of advanced educational advantages. It would disorganize the government relief bureau. Instead of a joint to get out of, it would change it to a place to live in. The government provides the remedy, but the people will have to pay to get the prescription filled. Anything we get without paying for is worth about cost price!

Fourth, comes railroad extension! The Queenstown people are agitating pretty strong over the lack of any announcement where extension will come their way. The C.P.R. is a lot like the Irishman's mule, you can lead it wherever it wants to go.

Fifth, comes the opening of the Burns lease. Like the poor, we always have this question with us. Whenever we think of his lease it sends us Bolsheviki-y. It's very inconsistent for a

From what we can learn, the average person nowadays is an ardent student of the mail order catalogues. This is good business all right, providing of course, that one does not confine his studies to the mail order houses alone. The man writing below tells of his experience on harness two years ago, yet we have been told by different farmers that for last year, at any rate, the Lomond retail price had the mail order harness prices beaten by a good margin.

There appears to be a prevalent idea that everything listed in a catalogue is a bargain. That the big house with big buying must always undersell the little retailer. While there are some flagrant examples where this is true, on the actual necessities of life it is more often the other way around. We know a family that consistently believes it is effecting a saving of about thirty per cent by shipping in groceries. We have three different catalogues in the office now and will defy any mathematician to bear out his contentions.

Wheat Centre, Feb. 1920.

Editor The Lomond Press,—

I thought that I would write a few lines in this Home Town vs. Catalogue House Trade discussion. Old Subscriber says that he got a better overshoe in Lethbridge than his neighbor got from the mail order house. It may be. I have worn a pair of mail order overshoes for two winters, almost, and I bought a pair in town one month ago and they are now almost gone. I don't make a practice of sending to the mail order houses, but in 1916 I did want a sleigh, so I went into town to look for one. There was none in town but the John Deere man would get me one for $50 and the Tudhope-Anderson man would get me one at $45 for a 2-inch runner. So I looked up Eaton's catalogue and could get a 2½-inch runner for $24.50. I sent for one and got it within three weeks. The freight was $5.25 making a total of $29.75, affording me a saving of fifteen to twenty dollars. In 1917 I required a set of work harness, so I priced them in the three towns, Enchant, Travers and Lomond. The cheapest I could get in that line was $55 without collars were $4.75. So I sent to Eaton's for a set at $42.50, and 2 collars at $3 each. The freight on this entire shipment was $1.60—total $50.10—saving me $15. For quality I will put these goods up against anything bought in any of these towns. Now, I don't say anything against our merchants—far from that—but it does look to me that when a man trades out several hundreds of dollars they do not seem to appreciate it at all. Why not hand out a cigar or a bit of candy once in awhile when a man is spending fifteen, twenty or thirty dollars. I have not yet met any man who has ever received anything from a town merchant on a deal. I had the same experience as the man Mr. King wrote about in his paper. I always pay cash, but it seems to me that those that buy on time and take all that they need and a lot they don't, and let the bill run a year or so, are treated best. Now, Mr. Old Subscriber, what would you think if we did not have the mail order houses? Do you think that the home town prices would be as fair as they are now? I think not!

Now this letter is getting pretty long, so it may fill the whole little Press. So if Mr. King sees fit to print it, good and well; if not, send it to the W. B. quick. I could say a lot more about this and give evidence, too, that we get just as good stuff from Eaton's or Simpson's as we get in town. I will say, tho', wherever and whenever possible, patronize home trade first; and above all, don't forget The Press. It is a tender little baby that by careful nursing will grow in health and influence.

Yours very truly,
Old Subscriber No. 2.

O O O O O

If the mail order catalogue is so successful, we would recommend it as a text book to the retail merchant. Fight fire with fire. You have equipment for additional volume and we firmly believe that a well organized campaign would change conditions and perhaps cause a change of heart somewhere. One or two merchants individually cannot accomplish a great deal, but if the entire line-up were to act as a unit, some impression is bound to be made.

As this topic appears to have aroused considerable public interest, The Press invite you to utilize these columns for the expression of your own ideas.

On account of the high rate of exchange now prevailing in the money market, all 1920 price lists on machinery have been recalled. This means a jump in price of from 10 to 12 per cent. BUT, for the next ten days we will protect our customers on any orders they might place for spring implements, or even on binders, against the immediate advance.

Prince Albert, Sask., Feb. 9.—John Watkins, of Roscoe, Sask., was found guilty of murder of Archie Purcell and Harry Bland, and was sentenced to be hanged on April 26, at Prince Albert. The jury, which was out four hours, made a strong recommendation to mercy which Judge McKay said he would transmit to the department.

When asked if he had anything to say, Watkins made a motion as if to speak, but no words came from his lips. After he was removed from the court Watkins was in a very depressed condition and seemed to feel his position very keenly.

Archie Purcell, one of the murderer's victims, was a brother to Mrs. E. G. Haley.

A. W. Hurst, formerly a resident of Kinnondale, died in the Calgary hospital on Friday, Feb. 13th, death being due to appendicitis. The funeral was held in Calgary on the 18th.

Hugh McIntosh and Mrs. Dave Munro were called to Calgary on Monday, the 16th., by the death of Wilbert W. Ainlay. The unfortunate young man was stricken with pneumonia and in a delirium threw himself to certain death from a hospital window. There is an added sadness in the fact that the wife was under confinement in the same hospital at the time. Interment was made in the Union Cemetery, Calgary.

The death occurred on Wednesday, Feb. 18th., of Charlotte Odland, wife of Swan Odland of Amethyst. Death was due to blood poisoning following confinement. Deceased was but thirty years of age and besides her husband leaves four small children. The funeral was held on Friday, interment being made at Wheat Center.

Both Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker have been reported as being quite ill.

The G. W. V.A. were to hold a dance on Wednesday, February 25th., but it is being withheld on account of the 'flu.

NEIGHBORS

If you had no neighbors you could be happy in a house one-half the size of the one you now occupy. A house one-half the size would afford you every needed comfort and furnish less surface for the collection of dust.

You have no particular objection to wearing shoes that have lost their original shape in an effort to conform to the shape of your feet. You have no inborn dislike of patches on pants. A car with four cylinders would serve you as well as one with six or eight.

You cannot economize in these particulars, for economy would lose you the respect of those you are eager to impress. Your neighbor has established a standard. For the sake of his approval you must live up to it. For the sake of your own you must try and excel it.

Neighbors are a costly institution.

FOR SALE

THE PRESS has a DeLaval 14-h. p. gasoline engine, slightly used, for sale at $90. These engines cost new more than thirty dollars above this price.

ARMADA

The U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. are booming, as evidenced by the attendance at the regular meetings on Monday last. A healthy and growing pride in the possession of the hall and also in the useful activities to which it is being put, is marked in everyone. A program of 'papers' and debates, of vital interest to the residents of the farm, is in course of preparation, and will be given at joint meetings of the U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. following the regular business meetings.

A special meeting is being held on Monday, Feb. 23rd., at 7 p. m., which should be of great interest to all. An election is to be staged in the old way, and then followed by the new system of proportional representation. All present will be asked to vote. This should prove very interesting and instructive. The program will be varied government to conscript manpower and shirk from conscripting a grazing lease, which at the best is little more than a straight give-away, in order to provide re-establishment for the returned men and permit the proper development of close-in, rich agricultural lands.

The sixth item on the list appertains to the public welfare and, like irrigation, we have got to reach out and help ourselves only there is practically no expense involved. The University of Alberta extension are an educational feature worthy of our attention. They are prepared in a very entertaining manner and are said to be really worth while. There's one thing about information, the more we get the greater our powers of assimilating the more of it. We could all stand a little brushing up and now is a good time to start in.

Another Public Meeting to be held March 3rd.

Since printing the article concluded on this page, we have experienced our annual attack of the 'flu. We use the adjective annual because 'twas just a year ago that we were so afflicted. Needless to say, the wheels of industry stopped, but there were all kinds of red hot wheels buzzing away inside our noodle. We regret having to suspend publication and also holding up numerous orders of job printing that are on the hook. We are at it again and will make a clean-up as quickly as possible.

There are between twenty and thirty cases of 'flu reported to be at Travers.

It will soon be time to poison gophers.

The meeting for which this article was written was duly held on the 18th. A number were unavoidably absent and there being a lack of understanding on behalf of the telephone and irrigation problems an adjournment was moved to March 3rd., the secretary being instructed to use the intervening time to procure the required information.

C. H. St. John was voted into the office of president to fill the vacancy due to the resignation of Mr. Elves.

There was quite a representation of farmers present and there is much apparent interest being manifested in the telephone extension.

Easter comes on April 4th., and now that we have passed February 23rd. without a decided thaw, we are convinced that the spring will open fairly early. You will note that we get no south-west winds this winter, or if any, they are but the softest of breezes. We are likely to get some more real winter in March, but as a guest the cold weather man has about worn through his welcome.

We are content to believe that this south country is about to have a change of luck.
